

EVENT FAQ

Is there an age restriction to those who would like to attend?

Bepartofthemystery.com have specific products for all occasions. The nature of our game scripts involve topics that might not be for the young ones ears. We suggest a minimum age of 16 years. If you have children under age participating we recommend that you check out a bloodless plot for mysteries without murderous intent.

How many people can attend?

Bepartofthemystery.com game scripts are designed for 8 or 10 players. You can either join a table or book a table or two for your party. The 8 characters consist of 4 male and 4 female roles. (Cross-dressing is encouraged if you don't have even numbers)

What are the costs involved?

Check our online shop for each events cost and menu.

What happens after your ticket purchase?

You will be sent a reservation notification and you will be requested to share the following information:

Guest name and surnames

Mobile numbers (to send any event notifications)

Email addresses (to send individual character descriptions)

Please indicate who are couples and the gender of each guest so that we assign the correct character description to each one of your guests.

We will send each guest their TOP SECRET character description. (This will be done after the RSVP deadline one week before the event)

Do I have to dress up?

Dressing up is not a must but it is strongly advised to help you get into the mood of the game. Dressing up will also help your fellow players identify and remember your character more clearly and it adds to the fun and laughter.

What happens at the mystery event?

Each guest will receive a mystery booklet which will be guide all suspects through a set of clues while you enjoy a three course meal - no need to print your character descriptions.

As our games are not scripted; you will use your own savvy and initiative to follow the clues, investigate evidence and interrogate suspects in an effort to catch the killer at your table.

Every table at our event will have the same character set and will be busy solving the same crime at the same time.

Do I have to have acting experience to play along?

Not at all! Your interpretation of the character is completely up to you. It is more important that you participate; if you can act it will be an added bonus to your guest's entertainment.

What is our refund policy for event tickets?

Once you have reserved your seats our cancellation and character replacement policy applies. In a nutshell if you or one of your friends cannot make it anymore, to ensure that your game is complete you or your friend should find a substitute. If you cannot find one your game will have to go on with a missing character and our host will fill in the gaps to the best of their ability.

If you prefer to book the old fashioned way please contact Inspector Keyser on 084 9938040 or email lente@bepartofthemystery.com to find out about availability and to book your seats.

Note:

- A minimum booking of 2 guests is needed. You can also book a table of 8 or more than one table depending on the size of your group.
- If you book for 2 or more but less than 8; confirmation of your game is subject to other guests joining your table to fill up all 8 seats.